Remaine you humbe Servent & obient Agent,
I. PETER STRYKER BEEKMAN, resident of the town of Hillsborough, county of Somerat, and State of New Jersey, to hereby certify to the following facts:—About seven years ago I was attacked with a pain in my right side and darting to my right shoulder with other bad symptoms, which made me every sick, which my physician prosounced the Liver Comidant. After being under his care a long while, he pronounced my case incurable, and ceased attending me. I would occasionally get better, and work a little; but it would be in misery, and then a relapse would occur, and I would be worse than ever. I began to cough, which was tight and dry, dizziness in my head, my kidneys were severely affected, and I had a severe pain and soreness in the pit of my stomach; my food did not digest, and it appeared to me as if mysromach was completely stopped up, for everything I ate was immediately rejected; my thowles were very costive, my cough increased, and I became very weak, and my flesh was neariy all gone, and I was reduced to nothing scarcely but skin and bone. I continued to get worse, seldom able to work, and confined part of the time to my bed, and sometimes all he time. I called m at different times all the physicians of eminence in this section of the country. I tried a great many remedies both at home and from abroad: but none of them would afford me any permanent relief. I continued in his miserable condition—and all my friends thought with myself that I must soon die—when SCHENCE'S PULMONIC SYRUP was highly recommended to me. On the first day of March last I commeaced

[Correspondence of the Herald.] WASHINGTON, July 3, 1845. The Oregon Question-Rumor of a Compromise Danger and Impossibility of a Concession of Ter ritory to Great Britain-Rumor set affoat as a feeler

New Church-Jackson Hall-Arrivals and De partures-Judge Meek, &c., &c. For some days past, there has been a rumor preent, at first exceedingly vague and improbable but gathering strength from day to day, until it has assumed, like Hamlet's ghost, "Such a questionable shape," that we will speak to it- In five words, it is a com-that we will speak to it—In five words, it is a compromise of the Oregon question. It is now confidently asserted that Mr. Packenham for H. B. M., and Mr. Buchanan for the Administration, have settled upon the 49 degree of north latitude as the highest point of the NorthernBoundary of the Territory of the United States west of the Rocky Mountains. Dr. Duncan's bill which passed the House by an overwhelmning vote, fixed our northern Oregon boundary at 52° 40, and if Mr. Buchanan has agreed to cede away nearly four degrees of latitude for the sake of peace, there will be no peace for him. The voice of the Great West for this territory is unanimous that not an inch should be surrendered—not the first solitary square inch from the boundaries defined by the bill of Dr. Duncan. Such a compromise as is rumored to have been made, cannot be made, with the universal voice of the Mississippi valley, and a strong corresponding sentiment from the east of the mountains against it. The administration would become powerless from the moment of the assurance that a compromise had been conceded upon the Oregon question. It would become as negatively weak as the administration of John Tyler, and fully as odious to the party placing it in power. An open and broad proposition to establish a United States Bank would be received with impower. An open and broad proposition to establish a United States Bank would be received with immeasurably more forbearance by the democracy of the whole country, than any proposition whatever.

the ecovernment to ward on this issue, will be received with unqualified reproach and detectation. The motto of the whole west is—"War—war to the knife, before a concession of the first solitary square inch of our rightful soil to any power upon the face of the earth."

But it is said, that upon the authority of a proposition on the part of the United States heretofore made, but rejected by Great Britain, to recede to the 49th parallel, Mr. Buchanan finds his authority for that concession now. No authority will answer him—no reasoning, or diplomatic casuistry will save him. He must go the whole figure. The soil many not be worth having—it may cost millions to maintain our title to a strip of land not worth one dollar—but where the honor and dignity of the country are involved and regarded, the people will rather abide the chances of war and direct taxation, than yield the shadow of a compulsory concession for the sake of peace. And a treaty submitted to the Senate for the settlement of the Oregon question. by our receding to the forty-ninth parallel, duly signed by the high contracting parties, would be rejected at the first reading. We, therefore, think the rumor a mere feeler put forth by the cabinet to ascertain the tone of the public sentiment upon this subject, and nothing more. For while we incline to the opinion that Mr. Buchanan may be disposed to recede, we are confident that he has not the hardihood for the movement, without irst consulting his own safety in making it.

The small postmasters are resigning, according to the Unice, by scores, because they are divested of the privilege of franking a letter, which otherwise might cost them some five cents postage. And from all we can gather, neither the President, nor the Post Master General, nor Father Ritchie, are very! warm advocates of the law—from narrow and antiquated views—views unworthy of men of the figures. It is our solemn opinion, that Father Ritchie looks upon the cheap postage law with about as much brotherly kindness and barbarous jealousy, Muller of the Lutherans, came here from Tennessee three years ago, as poor as the apostle Peter; but he has raised a congregation, and built a fine church. Then Mr. Samson, a young man of twenty-two summers, of the old iron-side Baptists, came among as, without money and without Price (the Swartwouter, we mean,) and he too, has had a large church raised over his head, as if by magic. And now our criend Tustin, a christian at heart, and a gentleman, riend Tustin, a christian at heart, and a gentleman, is putting up a church, and he is not rich, by any means. The Methodists, also, have put up, meantime, a fine chapel, and are building another: and it is somewhat, but not altogether, a mystery to us, where the money comes from. The ladies' fairs in the winter season—collections from abroad—collections at home—contributions by mechanics and laborers, of materials, bricks, lumber, &c., and of labor, do the business; to all of which we say, go shead! Let us have plenty of churches, cheap newspapers, cheap postages, good crops, and Texas, Oregon and California, and we may bid defiance to the powers of earth and hell combined. Amen. God grant it. Gen. John P. Van Ness gave the lot in this instance.

powers of earth and hell combined. Amen. God grant it. Gen. John P. Van Ness gave the lot in this instance.

To-morrow the corner stone of Jackson Hall is to be laid. Judge Shields, of Illinois, Commissioner of the Law Office, orator of the day. Theophilus Fisk, late Universalist preacher, late Professor of Mesmerism, Magnetism, and Phrenology, later a bearer of despatches to the High Dutch, and at precent joint editor of the U.S. Journal, delivers tomorrow an oration of some sort in Baltimore. Vatious pleasure excursions on foot.

Colonel Johnson left town this morning, and Secretary Marcy got in last evening, after an official trip which six months ago he would not have dared to dream of. Mr. Conrad, late U.S. Senator from Louisiana, is also here.

Judge Meek, of Alabama, who in consideration of his being upon a history of that State, has been given a clerkship in the office of the Solicitor of the Treasury to fill up his time, has written a poem "en the Death of Jackson," which we ask briefly to nonce. After describing the general gloom, he speaks of the "star-wreathed eagle" "folding his wings" in the dark. And then he commands every soul of the Federal population.

"Of every creed and party weep;"

While he himself is sitting by, 'smoking his regaliation are and the property of the care and the property of th

"Of every creed and party weep;"
While he himself is sitting by, 'smoking his regaliable eyes as dry as a powder horn. Besides the order is not "official." None but the President has a right to issue such an order, and therefore, we can't obey. The new publication of the edict in the "official" organ will not suffice, unauthorized by the Excutive. Altogether, though smooth as a glacier, the poem is as cold, as hard, and as fireless. Our copy is mislaid, or we should take further liberties with the erudite Judge, for his future improvement as a bard. is a bard.
